More gas available

Illinois Power Company announced Friday that natural gas for space heating purposes will be made available to 10,750 applicants on file as of March 10, 1976, in the various areas served by the company.

Of the space heating applicants, approximately 10,100 are in Priority 1, residential, and 650 in Priority 2, small commercial.

C. W. Wells, vice president of the company, said at Decatur that the gas for this release has been made available by additional underground storage capacity opened up at the Hillsboro storage area, newest in the IP system.

All new customers for natural gas are served by Illinois Power under a strict priority system on file with the Illinois Commerce Commission.

Wells emphasized that natural gas remains in short supply. Customers must have written applications on file at their local IP offices to avail themselves of any possible new releases of additional gas, he added.

Truck crash knocks out power lines

A hit-and-run truck accident which snapped the guy wires on a utility pole at 15th and State Street, bringing several high-voltage lines, caused power interference in several sections of the area Thursday night.

The power lines were broken when a semi-truck unit backed into the utility pole, breaking the guy wires about four feet above the ground.

The guy wires coiled into the air, striking two 34,000 volt lines which also broke and came into contact with a 69,000 volt line. A spokesman at Illinois Power Co. said he was told the truck was driven from the scene.

The accident knocked out power at the National Lead Co. plant for several hours and street lights along Madison Avenue to Venice were off for several hours.

At 7:32 p.m., Granite City police checked five business firms where burglar alarms apparently malfunctioned due to the electrical problems. All business places were secure, police reported.

Power company repairmen and police were called to the scene where it was necessary to reroute traffic for a short period of time.

The power company spokesman said there was little interference in residential areas except for a "blinking effect" as repairs were made and transformers were turned off and on.

Close and bitter campaign ending

Whether Illinois Governor Daniel Walker can gain the 1976 Democratic nomination for that office without party officials' backing will be determined by voters in tomorrow's primary election.

Among those speaking out for the incumbent today was Granite City Assessor Von Dee Cruse, who views the governor as a practical and responsible leader.

Commenting as chairman of the Granite City Citizens Committee for Gov. Walker, Cruse said, "Gov. Walker—in the role of a practical politician has recognized what his purpose should be in offering himself for public office."

"I believe he recognizes that every politician must be expedient in politics, just as every businessman must be expedient in business. But the necessarily expedient politician must also have deeply-held convictions, a grasp of the ideals and goals of his society and an ability to mark a path to those goals."

"He must be able to communicate those convictions and those ideals to the people of his society, even while he ministers to their more immediate demands."

"For it is easy for the people of a society, faced with the struggle for existence in their daily lives, to forget their ideals and become concerned only

In a statement to the Board of Trustees, university officers said:

"No person, more than John S. Rendleman, has felt by the university community at Edwardsville to have had a greater responsibility for, or dedication to, the establishment and initial growth of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville." The president died March 4, a victim of cancer at the age of 48.

The university's Building Naming Committee, at a meeting March 5, had voted unanimously to recommend the action.

Robert Hawkins, professor of speech communication and chairman of the committee, said the decision was made on the basis of an overwhelming number of student and faculty petitions which the committee

40,000 ballots expected

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer

Sparked by spirited campaigns in the Democratic primary and County Board races, more than 40,000 persons are expected to go to the polls in Madison County tomorrow, with about 18,000 of that number casting ballots in the Quad-Cities.

The 61 polling places in Granite City, Nameoki, Venice and Chouteau Townships will open at 6 a.m. and close at 6 p.m. Voters will ballot at 32 Granite City precincts, 11 each in Nameoki and Venice Townships and seven in Chouteau Township.

Voters countywide will nominate Democratic and Republican party candidates at the national, state, district and county levels, as well as candidates for both parties to fill County Board seats in 15 of the county's 28 districts.

Four of the district elections of County Board members will be held in the Quad-City area.

Voting on all primary candidates and County Board candidates will be on voting machines with the exception of the election of three members of the regional Board of School Trustees. Voters will receive a small paper ballot for the trustee voting.

If the 40,000-plus vote estimate holds true, it would represent 30 per cent of the county's voter registration, which has been revised to include the election of three members of the regional Board of School Trustees.

County Clerk Evelyn Bowles said the figure represents the addition of 5,281 new registrations since Jan. 2, and the elimination of about 7,000 names that had become delinquent on the registration rolls through failure to vote over a four-year period, by moving out of the county or by death.

The heavier than usual primary vote is expected to result primarily from hotly contested bids for state offices on the Democrat ballot, between full tickets headed by Secretary of State Michael J. Lucco and Governor Dan Walker as gubernatorial candidates.

A five-way race for the Democratic nomination to two state representative posts in the 36th District which includes the Quad-Cities, and opposition for the nomination of a Democratic judge on the Democratic ticket

Lucco, Wolf still 'team'

"Divide and conquer" tactics apparently are being applied by some unknown friends or foes, but State Representatives Sam Wolf and Joe Lucco both told the Press-Record today they have high regard for each other and still consider themselves a team.

The two are among five candidates for two Democratic state representative nominations in tomorrow's primary election.

Indications are that many Lucco-Wolf votes are likely to be cast in both Edwardsville (Lucco's home town) and Granite City (Wolf's place of residence). Voting for two individuals gives each of them a vote and a half.

In addition to the team effort, there is expected to be some "single shooting" (three votes)

61 polling places here

Quad-City area voters will go to the polls Tuesday at 61 polling places, including 32 in Granite City, 11 each in Nameoki and Venice Townships and seven in Chouteau Township.

Jane Addams—No. 1 woman in state?

(22nd of a Bicentennial year Press-Record series)

Names of women candidates are highly visible on tomorrow's primary election ballots. The ballots submitted to voters here include the names of 23 women.

While female candidates were fewer in past years, women have played a prominent role in Illinois history from the start.

Undoubtedly the most famous of all women in this state's 164-year history was Jane Addams.

Born in Cedarville in 1860, the youngest of eight children, she grew up under the competing pressures of a father who inspired his daughter to go beyond the conventional circle of 19th Century women's rights and duties, and a stepmother who encouraged her to cultivate the traditional refinements, graces and restraints of womanhood.

After being graduated from Rockford College and a brief stay terminated by ill health at Women's Medical College in Philadelphia, she made several trips to Europe, where she discovered settlement work.

In 1889 she opened Hull House in a remodeled old mansion in the midst of the slums and seething industrial life on the southwest side of Chicago.

Her goals were to help as well as to understand the poor, to publicize their plight, and by so doing to bridge the gap between industrialization and oppressed social classes.

The revolt against tradition and her own life and her acknowledgment of it increased Jane Addams' ability to understand the rebellion of the immigrants of her day, and youth in general, and of exploited women.

Hundreds of them came to Hull House every day for assistance and advice.

Miss Addams and a group of remarkably capable women taught classes, served as an employment agency for the needy, provided immediate assistance for a myriad of shared problems (including the delivery of an occasional baby), and raised money to support their efforts.

By 1905 the original remodeled mansion was joined by a series of new buildings of immigrants of various classes recreation and education.

They included an art gallery, a coffee house, a gymnasium, a children's building, the Hull House Apartments, a woman's

12 seek Supreme Court nominations

One vacancy and two seats from which judges are retiring have attracted 12 candidates for nomination to the Illinois Supreme Court tomorrow.

Justice Thomas E. Kluczynski and Justice Walter V. Schaefer must retire due to age after the November election. The vacancy on the bench was created when Justice Charles H. Davis of Rockford resigned in September. He later died.

Bidding for the Democratic nomination for Kluczynski's seat are former state Attorney General William G. Clark of Chicago and state Appellate Judge Henry W. Dieringer of Barrington.

The Democratic primary winner March 15 will meet Lawrence X. Pusateri of River Forest, the only Republican candidate for that seat.

Two Democrats have entered the race for Justice Schaefer's seat—Chief Circuit Judge Joseph Power of Chicago and James A. Dooley of Chicago. Reginald J. Holzer of Lincolnwood is their Republican counterpart and is unopposed. Heaviest competition is for the vacant seat, as four Democrats and two Republicans filed.

The Democrats are John T. Perry of Glen Ellyn, Stanley J. Reszkowski of Rockford, David R. Babb of Belvidere and Francis X. Mahoney of Freeport.

The Republicans are State Sen. Harris Pawell of Naperville and Thomas J. Moran of Waukegan.

The Chicago Council of Lawyers, a 1,200-member group in a February report voiced the opinion that both Dieringer and Power lack sufficient legal competence and political independence to serve effectively on the top Illinois court.

Schroeder attends Gallery of Homes convention session

Herman Schroeder of Granite City Realty Gallery of Homes, attended the semi-annual convention of the Gallery of Homes, Inc., held at the Fairmont Hotel in New Orleans, last week.

Schroeder was joined by over 400 Gallery members from all parts of North America. Gallery of Homes is the nation's largest residential real estate network, with over 1,500 offices throughout the USA and Canada. Schroeder said, Gallery was founded in 1950 by John T. Nothnagle, a Rochester, N.Y., realtor. The corporation headquarters is located in Elmhurst, Ill.

The theme of the convention "Management Goals" was highlighted by a comparison of profit and loss statements of all the Gallery licensees in attendance with heavy concentration on brainstorming and idea exchange among fellow Galleryites, Schroeder reported.

Two injured at Johnson-Wabash

A motorist and his passenger were injured in a two-car accident at 11 p.m. Thursday on Johnson Road at Wabash Avenue.

Police said the westbound VW van of Bobby L. Criss, 2151 Benton St., was involved in a collision with an eastbound auto turning left onto Wabash, operated by June F. Humphreys, 2155 Orville Ave., who was ticketed for failure to yield the right-of-way at an intersection.

Taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital were Criss, 28, who was treated for pain in the left cheek and an abrasion to the left shoulder, neck and arm, and his wife, Mrs. Patricia Criss, 23, who had numbness in the left cheek and an abrasion to the left leg. Both had x-rays taken and were released.

'200,000 sign state petitions

Patrick Quinn, secretary-treasurer of the Coalition for Political Honesty, has urged citizens "to cast a vote for political honesty on primary day March 16.

"The Coalition is asking all Illinoisans to spend a few hours gathering signatures for the initiative election outside their polling places," he said. There are over 200,000 signatures now, with 375,000 needed altogether by May 1.

The petition drive would place the initiative's three constitutional amendments on the November ballot. The amendments would prevent legislators from drawing their entire annual salary of $20,000 on their first day in office; outlaw holding two or more public payroll jobs; and ban legislators from voting on bills in which they have personal or financial interest.

Eastbound I-55-70 on bridge to close Mar. 22 for 6 weeks

The Illinois Department of Transportation said Saturday that additional roadway segments of the interchange and approach complex to the Poplar Street Bridge will be closed to traffic as of March 22.

The eastbound through lanes for Interstate 55-70 through the complex will be closed to traffic for approximately six weeks. During this period, eastbound traffic will be detoured through the complex via the eastbound outer collector-distributor roadway.

Motorists are being advised that the eastbound collector-distributor roadway has several locations where the roadway is constructed to one lane of traffic. These constructed locations will impede the flow of traffic and cause delays and backups.

Drivers are asked to consider alternate routes to the east from St. Louis in order to avoid the expected traffic tie-ups, a spokesman said.

All other segments of roadway within the complex now closed will remain closed until approximately April 1. At that time, they will be reopened, leaving only the through roadway for eastbound 55-70 closed.

The closure of eastbound Interstate 55-70 is necessary in order to allow the repair work, now under way, to continue in a sequential manner.

The repair work—consisting of steel girders, repairs, piers, and expansion bearing replacement—was planned after it was determined through the department's bridge inspection program that 342 expansion bearings were not functioning properly. This caused damage to the steel girders and tops of supporting piers.

The work is being done under a contract with H. H. Hall Construction Co. and Illinois Ben Hur Co. for $3.4 million.

During the same period that eastbound 55-70 is closed to traffic, additional repair work will be accomplished on a portion of the roadway deck; this will consist of water-proofing and resurfacing. The work is part of a contract with H. H. Hall for $1.3 million; work at other locations also is included in the same contract.

The Illinois Department of Transportation will provide periodic information regarding routing of traffic as the work progresses. It is asking motorists to be "patient and on the alert" when traveling through the complex area.

club, a boy's club, a nursery, and a boarding club for working girls.

Now a part of the University of Illinois Circle Campus, these facilities once represented the finest plant devoted to settlement activities in the United States.

Artists and educators also brought to Hull House a cultural program centered about a music school, a labor museum, and the Hull House players.

Her supreme practical achievement was to recruit and to hold many able women whose activities went far beyond the confines of the settlement house.

Among them were Dr. Alice Hamilton, a recognized authority on industrial disease; Florence Kelly, who became the state's first director of Factory Inspection.

Julia Lathrop, first director of the U.S. Children's Bureau; Edith Abbott, dean of the School of Social Science Administration at the University of Chicago and superintendent of the League for the Protection of Immigrants.

Sophonisba Breckenridge, instrumental in the establishment of the world's first juvenile court in Illinois in 1899 and author of a study of 13,000 juvenile delinquents which provided the first real research into that problem; and many other prominent reformers and humanists.

Pragmatic, never self-righteous, Miss Addams lived an active political life. She campaigned effectively for the abolition of child labor, for factory laws, for the reform of the courts, for temperance, and for woman suffrage.

In battles with the political machine, she came to understand the ward boss from the perspective of those who voted for him—not as a spokesman but as a source of scarce generosity.

By 1912, she was prominent enough to second the Presidential nomination of Theodore Roosevelt and campaigned vigorously for his unsuccessful candidacy.

was vilified for it, but in 1931, she won the Nobel Peace Prize with the plaquards of persons who had once labeled her traitorous for her pacifist activities.

True to her belief in analyzing and publicizing her efforts for social reform, she produced an impressive body of publications, including her masterpiece, Twenty Years at Hull House, and her equally excellent, Peace and Bread in Time of War.

Those volumes plus at least five others—as well as a host of articles and speeches—still provide a superb commentary on the revolt of youth, the plight of women, the uprooting of immigrants, and the disintegration of family life under the pressures of industrialism, authorities say.

From the perspective of one who spent a lifetime dealing with those who felt its shocks at first hand, her real contributions in many ways have been covered up by the saintliness which later observers have attributed to her—a traditional American method of dealing with those who ask uncomfortable questions.

Trust bank hosts Tri-City bar meeting

The Granite City Trust and Savings Bank hosted a monthly meeting of the Tri-City Bar Association last week.

The dinner meeting was held at the Sunset Hills Country Club with approximately 100 judges, attorneys and bank personnel present. Appellate Court Judge George Moran also attended.

Principal speaker of the evening was John M. Finnegan, senior vice-president and trustee officer of the Mid-City National Bank of Chicago.

Finnegan is an attorney and has been active in the Division of the Illinois Bankers Trust Division.

His principal topic was an explanation of the many ways a bank's trust department can be of service to the attorney and his client. Leo Konzen, Granite City attorney, was master of ceremonies.

Boy, 6, injured

Timothy E. Leonard, 6, of 2664 rear Iowa St., suffered a fracture to his skull when the bicycle he was riding and the car of Cheryl Berkshire, 2465 Iowa St., collided in the 2600 block of Iowa Street at 4 p.m. Sunday.

Cheryl Berkshire said she was driving east on Iowa Street when the bicycle came out of a driveway and into the street. She swerved to try and avoid the bicyclist, but struck him and the parked car of Charles Mathis, 2664 Iowa St.

The boy was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital where he was treated for swelling to his head and back, abrasions to his right elbow and right hip and an injury to his rib area. X-rays here showed the skull fracture and he was transferred to Firmin Desloge Hospital, St. Louis.

The representative-at-large will be named by Dr. Wiley with board approval.

The guidelines specify that the search for a president should proceed with all dispatch consistent with a careful and thorough review of all candidates. The new president of SUE should assume his responsibilities as soon as possible.

Await decision in Highway 162 zoning request

Numerous Namecki residents who attended a public hearing at 10:30 a.m. today are awaiting the decision of the Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals on a request pertaining to a commercial building at a 162 and Mockingbird Lane.

Arthur E. Miller Jr. requested a special use permit to convert and use a building as a residence in a B-3 highway business district. Residents contended there is some confusion over the case since a new metal building has been constructed there which appears to be a commercial-type building.

Following the public hearing, the zoning board was to meet to make recommendations on several zoning requests, including Miller's request.

Those recommendations, which are to be offered to the Madison County Board March 24, had not been announced late this morning. The County Board will take final action on the requests at the March 24 meeting in the Madison County Courthouse at Edwardsville.

2 hurt today

John Ostresh, 16, of 2576 Northridge, and Steve Ward, 17, of 3202 Wilshire Drive, were injured when their auto went out of control on Canteen Bottoms Road a half-mile south of State Aid Route 35 and overturned several times at 12:01 a.m. today.

Illinois State Police said they found the car about 30 feet from the roadway in a wheat field. They charged Ostresh, the driver, with reckless driving.

Both were taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital where they were admitted. Ostresh suffered a fracture to his left shoulder and Ward suffered multiple cuts to the left side of his face and to his left wrist.

Plunges into ditch

Miss Rea McDonald, 18, of 2576 Northridge, was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital following a one-car accident at 12:25 a.m. today on Pease Road a mile east of Route 111 near Interstate 270.

She said her car was eastbound when she lost control and the car plunged into a deep ditch. She suffered injuries to her back, left forearm and both knees. A series of x-rays was taken.

Lack suspects in murder

Granite City police reported this morning they are continuing their investigation into the murders of Richard and Anna Kube in their home March 4—one of the most intensive investigations in the city's history—but still have been unable to pinpoint any prime suspects.

A police spokesman said six detectives have been working an average of 16 hours per day each since the murders, and none of them have had a day off since the elderly couple's bodies were discovered.

Each had been strangled with the electrical cord to a steam iron. Robbery is believed to have been the motive as the couple had cashed a social security check that day and was believed to have had the money in the house.

"We have had numerous leads and are checking each and every one out, but have no substantial progress to report at this time," the spokesman said. "Any one of these leads, however, could be the one that breaks this case wide open," he added, commenting, "that is why we are devoting about 96 hours per week investigating this case."

The police department is continuing its appeal for anyone having been in that neighborhood March 4 to contact the detective bureau at 876-9027, or watch commander at 877-8111, to recall anything they might have seen.

"Even rumors overheard and related to us are being checked out," the spokesman said, requesting anyone having any information which may be of some help to call the police. "All information and the names of those giving it will be kept confidential," he pledged.

Officials said Feb. 4 they were hopeful of additional reimbursements of city funds expended on the disaster-related sewer repairs.

They said they were seeking the maximum possible return of such funds and would act vigorously to obtain it.

As part of the appeal procedure, some officials expect to go to Washington later this month to confer with Congressman Melvin Price and Congresswoman Julie Brown over federal disaster funding.

for the two individuals in both cities.

Both of the present representatives voiced anger today at an Edwardsville editorial Friday that urged voting for Lucco and "One of the other candidates excepting Mr. Wolf." The comment linked Wolf to "a machine strong in political clout and weak in integrity."

Wolf said today he will match his integrity with that of Jim Broadway, the Edwardsville editor, and assailed that newspaper for the "unjustified attack."

Lucco disagreed strongly with the Intelligence editorial. He voiced concern over reports that some committeemen have made copies of the editorial and labeled it a "paid Lucco ad," apparently as a way of driving a wedge between the two candidates endorsed by the County Democratic Central Committee.

While the two have campaigned jointly, they in a sense are opponents if one of the other candidates rivals them in voting strength. Only the top two of the five will be on the November ballot, for virtually assured election to the two positions normally captured by their party.

governors combined during the previous 12 years," Hawlett asserted.

He pictures the Walker years as among the most scandal-marred in Illinois history.

While the apparently close Democratic race has captured main interest, there also has been active campaigning by the Republican favorite.

Thompson, a Republican candidate for governor, called on Illinois voters today to seek out candidates with strong leadership abilities when they go to the polls Tuesday.

During April appearances in seven Illinois cities on the eve of the primary election, Thompson said, "Effective leadership for the future of Illinois depends on candidates who are open and honest with the voters and willing to identify their positions on the serious issues confronting state government."

During the eight months he has been seeking the Republican nomination for governor, Thompson has taken positions on more than 40 issues, disclosed his financial status and conducted an open policy regarding campaign financing, he said.

The former United States attorney said he is disturbed by "lack of leadership" displayed by gubernatorial candidates on the Democratic ballot.

"Day after day we have seen the Democratic opponents engage in name-calling, charges and counter-charges and vague allegations," Thompson said.

Hawlett concluded his summary of campaign issues with a list of six reforms he will make effective in his administration.

1. Timely service to the public.

2. Cost control in every government operation.

3. Citizen involvement in task forces to streamline government.

4. Cooperation and consultation with the legislature.

5. Accurate and effective planning, both long and short term.

6. An "open office," welcoming inquiry and investigation.

"All these reforms were effective in the offices of auditor of public accounts, secretary of state during the more than 15 years I administered them," he said.

The elderly, unemphatic, handicapped should receive their checks on time. So should doctors, druggists, hospitals and nursing homes which treat Medicaid patients.

"While I was auditor, checks proved out of the office promptly. In the age of the computer, there is no reason for delay. Medical providers can be given the money when their eligibility of recipients is verified."

"We can control operational costs by experienced management, by evaluation, auditing and investigation of program operations."

"In the auditor's and secretary's offices, we did more and better work with fewer employees. We will spend $10.5 million less this year than the legislature authorized us."

"We began controlling costs the day the administration began. We didn't wait for outside investigations to turn up wrongdoing before we moved."

"We will use the prestige of the governor's office to draw talent from business, industry, labor, education and the professions to evaluate programs, to cut out waste and duplication and streamline operations," Hawlett said.

"We will bring the governor's office into a close working relationship with the legislature. If the legislature thinks an agency is unnecessary and shuts off the funds, we will not assign the personnel around 20 other agencies."

"Nobody will find me diverting federal money to a TV studio to make the governor look good, or to mail political letters to senior citizens. We will propose programs to the legislature. The legislators will represent the people in accepting, rejecting or modifying the proposals, as they were elected to do."

"By careful planning and forecasting, we will prepare only one budget a year—one we can afford—and stick to it."

"The Department of Transportation will follow long-term highway planning requirements of state law. The Department of Vocational Rehabilitation will establish priorities consistent with revenues—not be allowed to commit 86 per cent of its budget in less than six months."

"By a comprehensive management review of state government, we will generate savings and pay our bills when they come due. I believe in fiscal accountability, and have crusaded for it all my public life."

News notes

The Federal Aviation Administration said Friday that as of April 15 all luggage will be screened and made subject to search, not just the baggage that passengers carry aboard the planes. The effort to detect explosives in checked bags is part of a new security program, Administrator John J. McLucas said.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare plans to rule by the end of March on whether the proposed Greater St. Louis Health Systems Agency qualifies for federal funding. The East-West Gateway Coordinating Council board has unanimously opposed it on the basis that there are insufficient elected officials on the agency board.

The St. Elizabeth School cafeteria will be the site from 7 a.m. to 1 p.m. Sunday of the annual sausage and pancake breakfast at Cahokia Lodge 126. Order of Arrow, the school's unit of the national scout camping organization.

Cahokia Downs track officials canceled the tenth harness race Friday night and are investigating with the Illinois Bureau of Investigation whether three horses eliminated from that race had been drugged. The one-mile race for pacers involved trifecta betting—picking the first, second and third finishers. All wagers on the race were refunded.

Tornadoes and storms Friday killed two persons in Northern Illinois and five in Northern Indiana. One tornado narrowly missed President Gerald R. Ford's campaign motorcade in Chicago; the autos were delayed to allow fire and emergency vehicles to reach a damaged building.

Marcelino Miyares, 38, Evanson, was named last week as a member of the State Board of Education, increasing to 16 the number of members. The unsalaried 17-member board began operation in January 1975, and several appointees had been rejected by the Illinois Senate. Miyares was one of five Chicago area residents of Latin American descent appointed by Gov. Walker last week to various boards and commissions.

Illinois Senate President Cecil A. Partee, seeking the Democratic attorney general nomination, campaigned in the Quad-City area Thursday afternoon, stressing intensified prisoner rehabilitation, limited capital punishment and more vigorous law enforcement.

The "1975 Illinois journalist" award will be presented to Karl L. Monroe, Collinsville Herald editor-publisher, April 24 at the annual communications banquet of the Northern Illinois University Journalism Association at DeKalb. Lifelong newspaperman, Monroe is a past president of the Illinois Editorial Association and the International Society of Weekly Newspaper Editors and is the current Illinois Press Association president.

Prof. Daniel Royce of the University of Cincinnati, Ferrand in France will visit Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville this week to present a series of talks comparing American and French literature.

At a candidate endorsement session in Normal, Ill., the Illinois Women's Political Caucus, endorsed Gertrude C. Whitting, state senatorial candidate, and Eva Giltner McDonald, state legislative candidate, in the 36th District.

Cong. John B. Anderson, R-Ill. Dist., has made a formal request for recovery of federal funds used in Gov. Daniel Walker's mailing to 120,000 senior Illinois residents last May. Anderson said last week that Commissioner Arthur S. Flemming of the Administration on Aging does not answer the congressman's Feb. 17 letter. Flemming's office, however, is expected to act on the complaint; Anderson said there have been "rumblings" to that effect.

Training center director chosen

James O. Bryant Jr. of Springfield, Va., a project officer with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, has been named director of the Environmental Resources Training Center (ERTC) at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Bryant's appointment, effective April 15, was confirmed Thursday by the SIU Board of Trustees.

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the ERTC building were held at 2 p.m. Thursday on the northwest side of the campus, near the waste water treatment plant.

The new facility, one of the first of its kind in the nation, will be a training center to serve environmental control operators and technicians, providing operator upgrading through the development of vocational and technical skills. Operators will be taught the fundamentals of operation and maintenance, management of resources, and quality control.

Bryant has been project officer for municipal operations with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency since 1974. He provided direct technical assistance to municipal waste water treatment plants. He also prepared operation and maintenance related training courses and prepared and presented technical seminars on operation of treatment plants.

From 1967 to 1973, Bryant was a member of the U.S. Army, serving in both the Material Command and the Mobility Equipment Research and Development Center. He had responsibility for pollution abatement and occupational health programs. During this time, he developed a management information system for controlling research, development and engineering projects.

A native of Pendleton, S.C., Bryant has a bachelor's degree in chemical engineering from Clemson College, a master's in chemical and sanitary engineering from Rice University, and a doctorate in environmental systems engineering from Clemson University.

From 1964 to 1966, Bryant was a Peace Corps volunteer, serving in Bolivia. He taught undergraduate courses in chemical engineering, as well as organizing public health education and community development projects.

Bryant is married, and he and his wife plan to live in Edwardsville.

Board cites Rendleman leadership

A resolution of commendation and appreciation for Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville President John S. Rendleman, who died March 4, was adopted Thursday by the SIU Board of Trustees.

The resolution stated: "The Board of Trustees by this memorial resolution records the death of John S. Rendleman, president of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, on March 4, and extends sympathy to Mrs. Rendleman and the family."

"For a quarter of a century, first at Carbondale and since 1964 at Edwardsville, John S. Rendleman served and provided leadership for SIU and for higher education in general."

"In various capacities in which he served, his contributions as chancellor and then president are preeminent. His constant concern for the welfare of its students, faculty and staff; his commitment to seeing that the university devote itself to the needs of the area; and his determination that its programs be of the highest quality all attest to his educational statesmanship."

"Before his move to Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, John S. Rendleman was a crucial force in the growth and development of Southern Illinois University at Carbondale."

"With President Delyte W. Morris, he helped give actuality, form and substance to their vision of the university as a proponent and a support for the needs and dreams of the region."

"In bricks, mortar, programs and people, the university at Carbondale is an impressive record of the contributions he made while serving as legal counsel, acting director of personnel, executive director of business affairs, general counsel and vice-president for business affairs."

"The Board of Trustees hereby expresses deep appreciation for the service and leadership President Rendleman provided. His warmth, his wit and his wisdom will be missed."

"Our condolences are extended to Mrs. Rendleman and to the members of the family. Their sorrow is most personal and poignant; the Board of Trustees and the entire university community, along with its friends and supporters, share with them a profound sense of loss."

General Howe Evacuating Boston

Taking Boston...the Hard Way...

□ The puffing horses and oxen heaved at the heavy sleds, their hooves slipped and slid on ice and snow. Men cursed and strained...trace chains popped...whips cracked on the frozen air. Through mountains and trackless wilderness the caravan struggled with the 59 heavy British cannon captured at Fort Ticonderoga.

These guns were needed to drive the encircled British out of Boston and win a desperately needed victory.

Finally, on the morning of March 5, 1776, British General Howe looked up from Boston to Dorchester Heights and, in shock and amazement, saw the heavy guns trained on his positions.

Howe made one attempt to break out of the encircling lines then loaded his garrison and sailed away. On March 17 the Americans marched into Boston with General George Washington at their head.

Mount Pulaski Class A champ

Mount Pulaski High School claimed its first state basketball championship ever Saturday night with a 58-56 victory over Oneida Rova High in the Class A (750 enrollment and less) title contest at the University of Illinois at Champaign.

Jeff Clements' jump shot with 36 left decided the game. The victors finished with a 29-2 record.

Mount Pulaski, making its first trip to the state tourney since 1936, when it placed fourth, on Friday upended previously undefeated Eldorado 76-66.

The team beat Buda Western 74-56 on Saturday to advance into the championship game. Buda had stopped Havana 64-54.

The Rova team, so-called because its 210 students come from the communities of Rio, Oneida, Victoria and Altona, beat Bloomington Central Catholic 49-48 Friday, and then sent the Lawrenceville Indians into the third-place tournament contest with a 77-70 win Saturday over the Indians.

Lawrenceville beat Marmion 66-61 Friday before losing to Rova, and then the Indians won 55-57 over Buda Western for third place.

Indian Jay Shieler, 6-1, snapped the all-time tournament scoring record with 157 points. The previous mark of 152 points was set by Dave Robisch of Springfield High in 1967. Venice was the 1975 state Class A basketball champion.

Club to sponsor soccer contest for ages 8-13

The Granite City Optimist Club will be running a tri-star soccer contest Saturday, March 20, from 9:00 a.m. to 11:00 a.m. It will be held at Steele Field, Buenger Boulevard near Village Lane.

There will be three events in the contest—kicking for accuracy, throwing in for accuracy, and dribbling for speed and control.

Boys will compete in three age categories: 8-9, 10-11 and 12-13. Age is determined by the age a child is on March 15, 1976.

Trophies will be awarded for first, second and third place in each age group.

The contest has been endorsed by the Tri-City Area YMCA Soccer Association.

It will be limited to the first 100 boys in each age group. Registration will be at 8:45 a.m. at Steele Field on the day of the event.

Prehn letterman at Westminster

According to Coach David Steinmeyer, "This year's team was a young group of competitive players. With lettermen such as this, we are looking forward to a strong team next year."

Grigsby matmen place at state

Three Grigsby Junior High School matmen placed well Saturday in an Illinois Wrestling Federation state tournament at Mattoon for boys aged 14 and under.

PARK VOLLEYBALL CHAMPIONS. Galt-Hartwick-King Insurance team, a member of the Granite City Park District's Women's League, Southern Division, completed its 1975-76 competition with a 35-1 record to claim the division title and then captured the playoff championship last week with 15-0 and 15-8 wins over Peters Construction. Displaying first-place trophies for division and playoff honors are Sandy Stein, left, Pat Conrad and Kathy Briggs, right. In the second row (from left) are Maxine Marmion, Marleen Marmion, Ruth North and Melba Greer. Standing, from left, are Referee Cheri Petrillo and players Lois Boone, Kathy Yureck and Maribeth Dake.

Road & Track magazine considered hundreds of 1975 cars:

The best car in the world for under $3500.

IT'S NOT TOYOTA. IT'S NOT DATSUN. IT'S NOT VEGA. IT'S NOT PINTO. IT'S NOT FIAT. IT'S NOT HONDA.

The Volkswagen Rabbit was picked to be the best car in the world for under $3500 for the right reasons. Handling, acceleration, ride, comfort, space, luggage capacity, brakes, durability, reliability—all these entered into the selection.

We at Volkswagen are proud to take our place next to Mercedes-Benz and the other fine cars chosen "The Best."

39 mpg on the highway, 25 in the city, is another reason the Rabbit was picked. The Rabbit, with stick shift, got that mileage in 1976 EPA tests. (The mileage you get can vary, depending on how and where you drive, optional equipment, and the condition of your car.)

IT'S THE RABBIT.

Nursing home decision difficult

By MARY RICHARDS
Illinois Department of Public Health

In many Illinois families this year, children and grandchildren of elderly persons will face the difficult task of deciding to put "Mom" or "Dad" in a nursing home.

Difficult as this decision is, once it is made many families will discover that finding the right nursing home is no simple task.

If families had time to investigate, chances are they could make a pretty good choice of the kind of facility they need and can afford.

Unfortunately, the election of a nursing home usually takes place in a crisis atmosphere when there's not much waiting time between the moment a decision has to be made.

The Illinois Department of Public Health has a few guidelines you can follow if you are faced with the problem of finding a good, not-too-expensive place for an elderly parent or other relative.

Basically, there are three types of facilities that care for the elderly, and your first step is to decide which you need—one with skilled nursing facilities, one which provides intermediate care, or one with what is called sheltered care.

In a skilled nursing facility, continuous 24-hour nursing service is provided for convalescent or chronically ill patients. The emphasis is on medical nursing care, restorative physical and occupational therapy, and the like.

Intermediate care facilities provide a comparatively lower level of nursing care for persons not capable of fully independent living.

In a sheltered care facility, the emphasis is on maintenance and personal care.

Each nursing home has a written policy which describes the type of resident the facility is geared to handle. So, before you make a definite decision, ask to see the policy of the facility you are considering. These written policies are available to the public.

Assemble the names of nursing homes in your area, and collect recommendations about various places from doctors, friends, clergymen and so on, because of their involvement.

Before you give serious consideration to any particular facility, you will need some basic information. For instance, is it the type you want—skilled nursing, intermediate care or sheltered care? Does it have room? Does it have a current state license? Is it approved for Medicare, Medicaid and Veterans Administration benefits?

This is also the time to find out about charges and entrance requirements. Be sure to get cost information on services that may not be included in the basic daily charge—assistance in eating and bathing, personal laundry, haircuts, shampoo, etc.

Also, do not consider any home you cannot check out with a personal visit, talking to residents, staff members and patients.

Signs to look for during a visit: Patients generally appear alert, clean and active.

2. Patients wear their own clothing, and bedrooms contain personal belongings.

3. Patients communicate freely, by letter, telephone, in conversation.

4. Patients are encouraged, for therapeutic reasons, to do some of their own laundry, tidy up their rooms and participate in other activities.

5. Visiting rules are generous and seem convenient for patients and visitors.

6. Community volunteers are present, and involved in activities with the patients.

Remember that your involvement does not end with the selection of a nursing home. Frequent visits from friends and relatives are vital to the health and welfare of a patient.

If you want information concerning the licensure and certification of nursing homes in Illinois, write to: Illinois Department of Public Health, Office of Health Facilities and Quality of Care, 535 W. Jefferson, Springfield, Ill. 62761.

Sandra L. Rozum becomes Mrs. William Brooksher

Miss Sandra Lee Rozum, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl R. Rozum, 4137 E. Lake Drive, and William Edward Brooksher Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Brooksher, 911 Twenty-fourth St., exchanged wedding vows in an early evening ceremony on Feb. 14 at Glenview Chapel Assembly of God Church.

The Rev. M. W. Wilson officiated at the double ring service at 6 p.m., before an altar decorated with bouquets of white blossoms.

Organist Mark Cox played "We've Only Just Begun," "Love is a Many Splendored Thing" and "Close to You."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected a long white daron gown featuring an Empire-style bodice. The scoop neckline was edged in Venice lace and the bishop sleeves also were accented with lace.

Lace motifs were applied on the front and back panels of the gown and edged the top of a crystal pleated flounce, encircling the hemline.

She wore a lace Juliet cap encrusted with pearls to secure her fingertip veil, bordered with matching lace. Her bouquet was a mixture of rosebuds and carnations.

Identical frocks were chosen by the maid of honor, Miss Sherry Aubuchon, and the bridesmaids, Mrs. Cheryl Finazzo and Mrs. Karen Miller, both sisters of the bride.

Their halter-style dresses in hot pink were created with wide lapels and worn with bolero jackets in burgundy velvet.

The honor attendant held a bouquet of pink carnations and roses and the bridesmaids carried three long stem roses.

Pink frocks with burgundy velvet bows at the waist were worn by the flower girls, Bobbie Gail White and Jennifer Finazzo, nieces of the bride. Each carried a basket of rose petals.

Michael Hanne, the groom's nephew, served as ringbearer. The groom chose Charles Rummelt as his best man. Ed Finazzo, a brother-in-law of the bride, John Walker, Robert Brooksher, the groom's brother, and William Schwierjohn completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

Guests were received by the newly married couple at a reception given in the fellowship hall. The rehearsal dinner was hosted at Tony's Restaurant.

Both young people graduated from Granite City High School. The former Miss Rozum is employed at the Clean Coverall Supply Co., St. Louis. Her husband is manager of Bill's Clark Station in Washington Park, Ill.

They are now residing in Granite City.

ALAN J. DIXON

7528 Claymont Crt.
Belleville, Ill. 62222

Dear Friends,

My sincere thanks to all of you who have supported my career through the years.

I would like to solicit your support at this time for an outstanding public official whom I support as the Democratic nominee for Governor — Michael J. Howlett.

Mike Howlett stood up for me a few months ago when some people in Illinois tried to pressure me out of this year's campaign.

The one person who stood up for me and said, "Al Dixon is my friend. He is my choice for Secretary of State. I will run with no one but Alan Dixon" — was Mike Howlett.

I am standing up for Mike Howlett now, not just because he is my friend, but also because he has outstanding capabilities and will put an end to the mis-management of Illinois.

As a lifelong resident of this area, I ask that you please vote for Michael J. Howlett for Governor in the Democratic primary on Tuesday, March 16th.

Downstate and all of Illinois needs Mike Howlett.

Sincerely,

ALAN J. DIXON

Democratic Candidate for Nomination
Office of Secretary of State

Editorial
ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH
Sunday, March 7, 1976

"In Mr. Howlett, Democrats will find a candidate who is not likely to engage in government by crisis, if he is elected. Mr. Howlett can claim credit for a reasonably good record as State Auditor for 12 years and Secretary of State for almost four years. He administered the two bureaucracies openly and efficiently and he helped expose a number of scandals." The Illinois Democrats choice should be Mr. Howlett in preference to Mr. Walker.

Illinois needs him.

Plan Commission ok's zoning for new nursing home

On a recommendation from the Granite City Plan Commission, the Granite City Council will be asked tonight to approve annexation and rezoning of property near the Steelcrest Subdivision on Mockingbird Lane where construction of a nursing home is being proposed.

At Thursday's Plan Commission meeting, Jerry Maeras, a realtor who is planning to construct a new nursing home, requested annexation of the property and rezoning to an R-5 classification, which would allow a nursing home.

It was noted that an agreement has been signed by the city and the parties involved which would nullify the annexation and rezoning if the nursing home is not constructed.

Maeras also agreed to a buffer zone of 125 feet between the proposed nursing home and the Steelcrest Subdivision which would be rezoned R-4 residential and the council will be requested to also approve that rezoning.

The city had held the annexation and rezoning requests over from last month due to a question whether the sewers in that area would be adequate to handle the additional load. City Engineer Monroe Brewer said in a letter read to the Plan Commission that he has studied the sewers and feels there is adequate capacity to handle the nursing home.

The Plan Commission also considered two requests for annexation and recommended that the council approve them at tonight's meeting. Annexations are requested by Charles and Rita Overath, 3644 Mockingbird Lane, and James L. Lelik, 2284 Gary Ave.

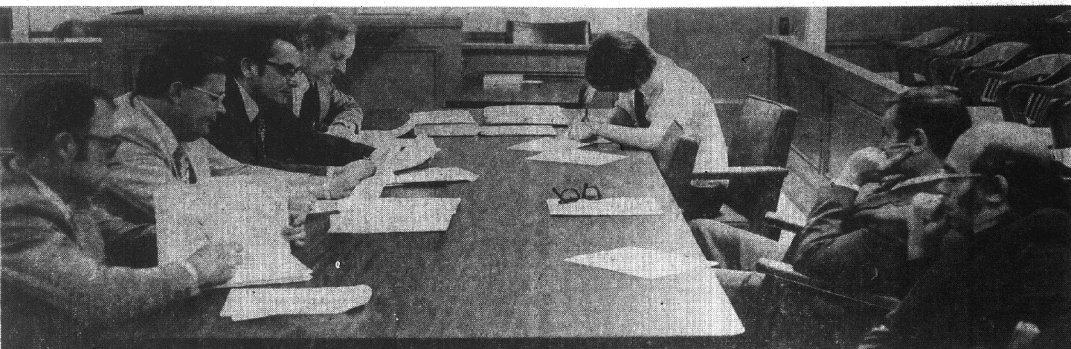

The commission rejected a request from Billie Anderson, 2231 Pontoon Road, for a special use permit at that address for a real estate office.

It was noted the petition is in violation of city ordinances which require a one-year waiting period after rezoning of a parcel is denied before a new request can be submitted. A hearing on that address was held in November 1975 when a zoning request was denied.

Statement of Policy by Judge Horace Calvo

My opponent has repeatedly made comments that I did not receive the endorsement of certain lawyers in a poll conducted in Springfield.

I refer to this only to point out the real facts concerning this. They are these:

1. My opponent has never been a Judge, consequently, he is unable to appreciate the problem that a Judge has in endeavoring to balance the rights of the public as opposed to the individual desires of members of the bar.

2. I would be the first to admit that I have been criticized by certain lawyers because I have insisted that cases not be delayed; that Court proceedings begin and end within established hours and because I have refused to lend myself to the will of certain lawyers who desired rulings not consistent with the rights of the public in certain instances.

3. If elected, I shall continue to do this, even if by so doing, I receive the ill will of lawyers who would desire that I do otherwise. I feel that my primary obligation as a Judge is to essentially protect the rights of the public and not let myself be manipulated by certain lawyers desirous of controlling the Court. If these lawyers now join my opponent to seek my defeat, I can only submit the matter to the will of the electorate.

In any event, I pledge if elected, that I will not yield to the pressure of any group or lawyer's organization which would endeavor to manipulate my Court or my decision. Those offended by this may continue to oppose me.

Polk Bicentennial edition —from Aaron to Zweiberth

R. L. Polk & Co. of Taylor, Mich., has started delivery of the 1976 special Bicentennial edition Tri-Cities Directory, including Granite City, Madison, Mitchell, Pontoon Beach and Venice.

The commemorative edition is being delivered to local subscribers.

The directory contains four major departments along with an introduction and a statistical and general review of the communities.

The classified section lists names and addresses of business and professional concerns arranged in alphabetical order under headings.

The alphabetical section of the directory shows the name, marital status, occupation and address of each resident. Husband and wife are counted as one name, and 18 is still the minimum age of individuals listed.

The third section is the directory of householders, including a street and avenue guide. This section lists numbered streets in numerical order, followed by named streets in alphabetical order. Residents on every street are listed along with the telephone number at each address. New neighbors are identified by a star appearing between street number and name of occupant.

The numerical telephone directory is the last major section of the book. Telephones are listed in numerical order, with the individual or business listed alongside.

First and last names appearing in the alphabetical section of the directory are Gary Aaron and Kathleen Zweiberth.

Foundation agent for Olin center

An agreement establishing the Southern Illinois University Foundation at Edwardsville as agent for the SIU Board of Trustees in maintaining the John M. Olin Conference and Cultural Center at Alton was approved here Thursday by the trustees.

The agreement commits SIU at Edwardsville to pay the actual cost of maintaining, repairing and caring for the physical plant and personal property of the Olin estate, with university payments not to exceed $15,000 without further board action. The contract will expire June 30, 1977.

The board accepted the Olin estate as a gift to SIUE in June 1975.

In addition to the property, J. M. Olin donated stock which has been sold by the Foundation to establish a care and maintenance fund for the estate.

University officials said they believe the contract between SIUE and the Foundation represents the best practicable mechanism through which services necessary to maintain the Olin property can be provided—especially in view of budgetary constraints in the university and the Foundation's possession of funds donated by Olin.

The agreement commits the Foundation to follow the Illinois Purchasing Act and university purchasing and procurement regulations.

University administrators and faculty are continuing to develop plans for usage of the property, which Olin stipulated "should be held, used and operated exclusively for charitable, cultural, scientific, literary and educational purposes."

Vote for STEVE MARAGIDES - Mar. 16

Views differ on lawyers' voting

A resolution, "That the Madison County Bar Association endorse and recommend both Horace Calvo and Norman Kinder as qualified for circuit judge," was adopted by a near-unanimous vote, Secretary Robert B. St. Peters has related.

The action at the Feb. 25 MCBA meeting was reported in the March 1 issue. St. Peters said later that at the County Bar session "Marshall Smith, an Alton attorney, stated that some members of his firm, and many other attorneys, had not received ballots to vote in the Illinois State Bar Association poll on candidates for circuit judge."

"Smith then made the motion to be acted on by the members. The motion was adopted by a near-unanimous vote," St. Peters said.

Calvo is serving as circuit judge by appointment, and is opposed for the Democratic nomination tomorrow by Kinder. Both are Granite Cityans.

Kinder said in response to his opponent's statement that a recent bar poll demonstrated that he was a "people's judge rather than a lawyer's judge."

Kinder commented, "Those individuals most frequently in contact with the two candidates have, in a secret ballot process, strongly indicated the better qualified candidate."

Calvo's assertion that he is the people's judge, having never been elected to that position, is ironic, I have constantly, throughout the campaign, stressed the issue to be the qualifications of the two candidates.

"I have noted my trial experience in all aspects of the practice of law. I feel that the results of the Judiciary Advisory Poll supports my representations to the voters of Madison County."

"The only response by Judge Calvo to the poll has been that, out of 222 ballots, 97 responded. I feel that for an election, this is a much higher percentage than will vote in the primary on March 16 or the general election in November."

"This is a fair representation of the opinion of the colleagues of the two in question. I was recommended; my opponent was not recommended."

"My opponent has inferred that certain attorneys were not polled. My office has checked with the director of Administrative Services for the Illinois State Bar Association, Robert F. Blvin, who states that it is absolutely not true that the ISBA failed to poll any member of the Association."

"The results of the poll were compiled by computer at the Illinois State Bar Center in Springfield."

Richard A. Smith has been appointed director-management services, National Steel Corporation, it was announced today.

Smith has been general manager-management services for the Granite City Steel and Midwest Steel Divisions of National Steel since 1972.

Responsible functions of management services consist of computer mechanization of mill systems, production control, accounting and other business systems, computer process control, technical systems, computer operations and telecommunication systems.

Active out-patient surgery program

Surge, an out-patient surgery program is being offered by St. Elizabeth Hospital and its medical staff. The program reduces hospital cost for the patient by eliminating an overnight stay.

In addition to patient cost reduction, Surge makes it possible for the patient to continue his normal daily activities with a minimum amount of disruption and loss of time.

Under the Surge program, a person may come to the hospital for laboratory tests at his convenience the day before surgery and no longer has to be admitted for these tests, a spokesman said.

Physicians perform the surgical procedures in the same operating suites and under the same conditions as in-patient surgeries.

If unexpected complications arise, the doctor may summon the assistance of additional staff members or equipment.

Following surgery, the patient is observed closely for one to three hours to insure full recovery before discharge.

In order to qualify for out-patient surgery, a person must be in relatively good health as determined by his physician and the anesthesiologist, and the surgical procedure being performed must have been approved by the hospital's medical staff.

Over the past six months, physicians have performed an average of 55 out-patient surgeries monthly.

Voters to choose 3 school trustees

Voters in Tuesday's primary election will receive only one small paper ballot on which they will vote for the selection of three members of the Regional Board of School Trustees.

All other candidates subject to nomination or election in Tuesday's balloting will be on the face of the voting machines in the county's 197 precinct polling places.

Voting machines, election supplies and the paper ballots were distributed to the polling places last week by County Clerk Evelyn Bowles and Deputy Clerk Eudalia Hotz.

A small supply of paper ballots for national, state, district and county candidates also was printed for each precinct to be available in case of a voting machine malfunction.

The school trustee candidates are unopposed. The voters are to ballot for three. There are three candidates on the ballot. They are Homer A. Huber, Joseph N. Berry and Gordon Burroughs.

Two arrested in theft case

Robert B. Bladick, 21, of 2446 Bryan Ave., and Troy E. Hewell, 2512 Jerden Ave., have been charged with theft after they allegedly stole a twin air compressor valued at $100.

Paul Seebold, of District Concrete Co., 22nd street and the railroad tracks, was working in his office at 2:30 a.m. Saturday heard a noise and looked out the window. Seebold reported he saw two long-haired white men loading the compressor into the truck of a maroon colored Monte Carlo Chevrolet.

Seebold followed the pair to the Curve Inn Tavern, 2518 Missouri Ave. got the license number and called the police. The pair were then arrested at 2:30 a.m. Saturday on a complaint signed by Seebold.

THE SCHERMER BULLETIN
John Meinkeoth, our meat manager, has a day off every Wednesday; but even on his day off he is working for you and Schermers. This week he devoted his survey to looking at various stores "Ground Beef." His report given at our Thursday noon merchandising meeting is alarming. John says that many stores are selling "Bargain" Ground Beef: that is, lowering the price and cheapening the product. You might ask how that is done and the answer is that by "loading" ground beef with "water" and "ice," you can produce this item to sell at any price you might desire. Of course this is a BAD DEAL. If you wish to purchase extra sure (for some reason) you can buy it for 10¢ per pound. There is no use paying ground beef prices for it. John says that as long as he is the Meat Manager at Schermers, he is going to produce quality ground beef at a fair price. We agree with John. We take home every week the ground beef in our case and we know that it is quality. When cooked it doesn't taste "gravy" neither do we notice any great "shrinkage" when we cook it. John says that we should tell our friends that if they keep their eyes open they won't be fooled. Don't look at the price; look at the color. If the ground beef is a nice fresh red color and a minimum of fat showing (like Schermers) you have nothing to fear. If it is gray or almost white and "fleshy" then watch-out. To this we say, Amen.

also has added to campaign activities attracting wide attention among the voters.

A contest for the Democratic nomination as state's attorney and another for the nomination of a circuit clerk, also on the Democrat ballot, has added further interest in the Democratic campaign fights at the county level.

The presidential primary on both Democratic and Republican ballots are attracting countywide attention, with four candidates in the Democratic race and three on the Republican ballot.

Bidding for the Democratic presidential vote are George C. Wallace, Jimmy Carter, Fred R. Harris and Sargent Shriver.

The major Republican contest will be between President Gerald R. Ford and Ronald Reagan, Las "America First" Daly, also is listed on the GOP ballot.

In the Democratic race for state offices, voters will have a choice between incumbent Gov. Walker and Secretary of State Howlett who have spearheaded heated campaigns for themselves and the candidates on their respective tickets.

Other candidates on the state Democratic tickets whose alignments are indicated in parenthesis, include:

Neil F. Hartigan (H) and Joanne H. Alter (W) for lieutenant governor; Ronald E. Stacker (W) and Cecil A. Pardee (H) for attorney general; Alan J. Dixon (H) and Vince DeSantis (W) for secretary of state; and Roland W. Burris (W) and Michael J. Bakalis (H) for comptroller.

Cong. Mel Price of East St. Louis is unopposed on the Democratic ballot for re-election as congressman of the 22nd Congressional District.

Thirty-two Democratic candidates are on the ballot for election of six delegates to the national nominating convention, while 12 candidates seek election to three posts as alternate delegates.

Incumbent State Representative Sam W. Wolf of Granite City and Joe Lucco of Edwardsville, are opposed for re-election on the Democratic ballot by three other candidates, Jim McKee of Alton, Louis Whitsell of Nameoki Township and Mrs. Anita Eitlmoff of Granite City.

Incumbent State Senator Sam Vadalabene of Edwardsville is without opposition on the Democratic ballot.

At the county level on the Democratic ballot, incumbent Circuit Clerk Willard "Butch" Portell is opposed by James E. Greene for nomination as the candidate to that office, and incumbent State's Attorney Nicholas Byron of Edwardsville is opposed by Steve Maragides of Madison.

William E. "Bill" Johnson will appear on the ballot as a candidate for that office, but he has announced his withdrawal and has not campaigned for the office.

Also seeking re-election on the Democratic ballot without opposition are County Auditor John Kraynak of Granite City, Coroner Mrs. Dallas Burke of Alton, and Recorder of Deeds Ronald P. Lucas of Maryville, Horace Calvo, Granite City attorney now serving as circuit judge by appointment, is opposed by Norman Kinder, partner in a Granite City law firm, for election as circuit judge of the Third Judicial circuit on the Democratic ballot.

Further impetus to voting in Tuesday's primary is expected to result from race for Quad-City County Board districts for nomination of County Board members on the Democratic ballot.

In all four districts, incumbent County Board members are opposed for renomination. In the seven Granite City precincts of District 22 (Pcts. 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 15 and 25) voters may choose between incumbent Board Member Herbert "Junior" Milton and Jim Perschke Sr., while in District 23 (GC pcts. 9, 10 and 28 and Venice pcts. 1, 2, 4, 5, 10 and 11) incumbent board member Jay D. Maurer is opposed by Jake Hagop Varadian.

Incumbent Board Member Arthur W. "Cooper" Moore of Board District 24 (Venice pcts. 3, 6, 7, 8, and 9 and GC pcts. 1, 2 and 3) is opposed by Gary R. Novich, Homer Boethman, incumbent board member of District 25 (Nameoki pcts. 2, 4, 7 and 10, GC pcts. 12 and Collinsville pct. 13) has two opponents, Joe Boyer and Chris W. Von Nida.

On the Republican ballot, principal opposition lies between James R. Thompson and Richard H. Cooper for governor, and between Dave O'Neal and Joan G. Anderson for lieutenant governor.

Without opposition in the state primary are William J. Scott for attorney general, William C. Harris for secretary of state, and George W. Lindberg for comptroller.

Sam Denovac is unopposed for the Republican nomination as congressman of the 23rd Congressional District.

Voters will elect four delegates to the national nominating convention from a field of 10 candidates in the 23rd Congressional District. Four alternate delegates will be elected from among seven candidates.

Two candidates are seeking the Republican nomination for state senator—Glenn T. Wilson and Gertraude C. Whittig. Everett G. Steele, incumbent state representative, and Eva Giltner McDonald, are seeking nomination as state representative under the cumulative system of voting in which voters may cast either 1½ votes for each of the candidates by voting for both, or cast three votes for one of the

Retired group enjoys 3-foot, 6 1/2-foot square dance partners

Checkerboard Squares and Tadpole Squares, the latter a group for ages five to eight, combined forces last week to entertain the American Association of Retired People at Coolidge Junior High School.

The Checkerboards performed intermediate and advanced square and round dances, and joined the Tadpole Squares in basic squares and simple rounds.

The AARP members were "pleased and impressed" by the candidates by voting only for one.

There are no Republican candidates at the county level, except for the office of coroner, although provision is made on the voting machines for writing in candidates for each of the county offices subject to election.

Hugh Hairston of Venice is the candidate for coroner. The Republican ballot also is without candidates for circuit judge or for County Board members.

Two groups dancing together, noting that Tadpole Glean Barker, age four, 37½ inches tall, danced in the same square with Jeff Gibson, 15, who is 6 feet, 4½ inches tall.

An innovation, live music performed by Mrs. Emma Boyd at the Checkerboard's last show in Farmington, Mo., was continued at the AARP, since Mrs. Boyd, at 68, preceded most of the members in retirement by 20 years.

Checkerboard Squares in attendance were Debbie Miller, Lori Derossett, Jenise Pingel, Kim Smith, Ray Barker, Jeff Gibson, Steve Dohal, Alan Lewis, Christine Zimmerman, Vincent Dohal, Sherri Marcrum, Brenda Gail, Gail Robertson, Elmer Meyer, Susan Maindrige, Fran, White, Karyn Rogers, Sheila Wilkins, Donald Marcrum, Ken Buford and Betty Beck.

Tadpole Squares participants were Bobbie Fanning, Robin Fanning, Candy Wall, Tami Wall, Tracey Jones, Bryan Dohal, Gean Barker, Dwayne Rogers, Johnnie Rogers, Franie Bristol, Ronnie Hastings and Michelle McCallister.

Optimists to become Irishmen?

Acting on authority which he said was granted to him by "the little people," Dave Brooks, president of the Granite City Optimist Club, declared every Optimist member an "Irishman" for the club meeting Thursday.

At Thursday's meeting, the club will celebrate its newly acquired "Irish nationality" by celebrating St. Patrick's Day one day late.

Each member is to bring his wife and a thout.

Optimist William Monical, official scorekeeper in the club's membership contest said, "Even though the G. H. Sternberg team leads the team headed by Frank McGinness 1,525 to 400, the McGinness team could come from behind and win if they turned out a large group. Each person attending the meeting as a representative of a team counts 25 points."

If Sternberg's team wins, McGinness will have to push the local contractor around Olive Park in a wheelbarrow. If McGinness, who is the controller at St. Elizabeth Hospital, is the winning captain, Sternberg will push him around the park in a wheelbarrow.

Ralph Graveman, a photographer from East Alton, presented slides depicting the growth of his business over the past 22 years from one room studio to a large, modern, multi-room building.

Girl, 18, is rape victim

Granite City police are searching for a young man in connection with the alleged rape of an 18-year-old Granite City girl here Thursday night.

The victim said a man she knew asked her to go to a transformer fire at 18th Street and Madison Avenue about 8 p.m. Thursday, after which they went to an apartment, believed to be on Washington Avenue, to listen to records.

She said another man she did not know asked to talk to her in a bedroom and then told her it was his apartment and she would have to do what he said. He said if she tried to escape, three men in the next room would get her. The man then raped her, she reported.

She said she was afraid because she had seen a gun in the living room of the home. After relating the incident to police, the young woman was examined at St. Elizabeth Hospital and was released.

Girl missing

Quad-City area authorities have been asked to search for Debra Thompson, 18, of 2422 E. 25th St., who has been missing from her home since the morning of March 6.

Her mother, Mrs. William Thompson, said her daughter left home about 9 a.m. March 6 to attend beauty school classes, and has not been heard from since.

She said the girl was wearing a tan blouse and blue jeans when she left home.

Secretary of State Michael J. Howlett said that 4,471,217 license plates for 1976 had been purchased as of March 11.

Although participating banks throughout the state showed a substantial gain in plate sales at a corresponding date one year ago, the current total will be increased when all final reports are processed.

Three Chicago motor vehicle facilities were up 136,663 from year ago. Plates mailed out of Springfield and sold over the counter were 159,428 higher this year, including reassignments and a record number of special requests.

If you're thinking of selling, the people to see are at Royce Realty, 2862 Madison Ave., 876-5050.

Pact with bus drivers

The Bi-State Development Agency board will act Wednesday on a proposed agreement with Transit Union Local 786, representing 1,600 bus drivers and maintenance workers. Ratification meetings are being held today by the union.

The previous contract expired Aug. 31. Bi-State had offered a seven per cent pay hike and adjustments in fringe benefits and cost-of-living, while Local 786 sought a nine per cent increase and other concessions. Details of the tentative pact were not announced.

Isometric exercises explained to Rotarians

Thinner Rotarians? At the Madison-Venice Rotary meeting held Wednesday noon in the Madison Recreation Center, Tony Rubiano, representing the Apollo Exerciser Company demonstrated a physical fitness device which he reported is used by the astronauts. He said that 12 minutes with the Apollo Exerciser is equal to one hour of regular exercise. Based on isometric exercises, the device pits one muscle or part of the body against another, or against an immovable object in a strong but motionless pressing, flexing and contracting, he said. Rotarians were reminded by Rotarian Leo Schermer that on Monday, March 22, from 3:30 p.m. until 7:15 p.m., the Red Cross will have a bloodmobile at the Madison Recreation Center. He asked the Rotarians to solicit donors. Appointments may be made by calling Albert Hock at 576-0269 during the day. Schermer said that the Madison Lions club is helping solicit donors also.

Rotarian Wayne Schannell

made a report of the club's biennial tie sale project. He said that at the Rotary District meeting in Springfield in two weeks the club will have a booth selling the ties. Rotarian John Blasingame is in charge of the booth and needs volunteers to help sell the ties. President Ray Edwards reported that the club will make a presentation on involvement at the district meeting under the leadership of Rotarian Robert Vickers. Ned Freeman district Boy Scout executive for the Quad-Cities area was inducted as a new member. Rotarian Jack Friedman was the installing officer.

Burglar startled

A burglar described as between 14 and 16 years of age with long blond hair was startled when Mrs. Cecelia Coin, 1885 Sixth St., Madison, confronted him in her kitchen. The boy reportedly said "oops" and ran out the back door when he saw Mrs. Coin. Mrs. Coin told police she was asleep and was awakened by a noise. She found the youth in the kitchen. According to police he twisted the door handle on the west side of the house to gain entry.

Nominee for Smith board

Leslie H. Warner, chairman and chief executive officer of General Telephone & Electronics Corporation (GTE), has been nominated for election to the A. O. Smith Corp. board of directors.

Warner has been nominated to fill the vacancy which will be created by the mandatory retirement of U. T. Kuechle, former president of A. O. Smith and retired vice-chairman of its board of directors.

A.O. Smith's annual meeting is scheduled to be held April 14, L. B. Smith, chairman and chief executive officer, said.

Warner heads a highly diversified communications and electronics enterprise that has combined revenues and sales of about $6 billion in 1975.

GTE is the parent company of more than 60 communications, manufacturing, research and service subsidiaries with operations in 40 states and 15 foreign countries.

In addition to his position at GTE, Warner is a director of Continental Can Co., Inc., and Irving Trust Co., and advisory director of Charter New York Corp., and a trustee of Teachers Insurance and Annuity Association of America.

Warner began his business career in 1937 after earning an MBA degree at Harvard. He joined Automatic Electric Co., a communications equipment manufacturing subsidiary of Theodore Gary and Co., which was merged into GTE in 1955.

During the course of his career, Warner served at various times as president of several GTE subsidiaries. In 1957, he was elected executive vice president-manufacturing of GTE and in 1961 was elected president. He became chief executive officer in 1966.

Warner has been active in industrial and civic affairs and has been honored on several occasions for his service. Smith said all other incumbent directors of A. O. Smith have been nominated for re-election April 14.

Products include water heater equipment, electric motors, agricultural feed storage and handling systems, auto and truck frames, glass fiber reinforced plastic pipe, metal powder and computer services.

Rendleman remembered as a dedicated fighter for high educational standards

Eulogy for President John S. Rendleman, delivered at memorial services March 9 by Andrew J. Kochman, vice-president and provost of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville:

"He raised up the poor out of the dust, and lifted up the beggar, to set them among princes and to make them inherit the throne of glory; for the pillars of the earth are the Lord's and He hath set the world upon them." First Book of Samuel, Chapter II, Verse 8.

As we reflect on the life of John Samuel Rendleman, born in a kindler time in the Southern Illinois town of Anna, it is fitting that we recall these words from the Book of Samuel in scripture. They describe the generous drive of a young man who was lifted up to consort with ease among the lowly and the great alike.

It would not sully his memory to say that he was ambitious, because he sought the power that glory brings as an authentic means of making the world better of all those whose lives fell within the broad boundaries of his concern and care.

Never one to be anything but proud of his burning interest in the art of politics, John Rendleman was more than a political animal; he was a politician. A society which nurtures such citizens is more than a system; it has justly earned the right to be called a civilization.

For John Rendleman, men engaged in politics in search of the good life; he rendered unto Caesar—to restore to mankind the things that are man's.

When he first arrived as chancellor here in July 1968, he made his initial assertions as a chief executive in terms of a policy of openness to all who had a stake in the growth of this institution.

Within the campus community, he was willing to discuss any problem with anyone. Further, at a time of a great public crisis and anxiety, he aggressively affirmed the prudence of this policy over one of coercion and control.

He told the Downtown Rotary Club in January 1969:

"In the life of man, no victory is an end to contention—it must be read as a spark to higher challenge."

"This is the spirit that must shape our response to the most irritating and exasperating of complaints. This is our best answer to the rhetoric of paranoia that insists that things are doomed to get worse before they get better."

"The workings of a free society require open, alert, ever-growing minds."

"No matter how bitterly we may be challenged, let us maintain a patient confidence that the time for revolution in America will never come as long as we are willing to nurture the best in our youth."

So he accepted the need to walk with princes; but following the injunction of a poem he often quoted, Kipling's "If," he kept the common touch.

In describing the variety of his qualities, it is striking how his character was invested with enduring truth. We can go as far back as 1630 and observe how Isaac Walton concluded his life of Dr. John Donne with some paragraphs that aptly describe the life of John Rendleman.

"First, we might look at the simple matter of physical description: He was of stature moderately tall; of a straight and equally-proportioned body, to which all his words and actions gave an inexpressible addition of comeliness."

All who engaged in John Rendleman's presence came away with this sense of harmony of body and spirit. He moved with style and grace, building on his younger athletic experience, to make everyone comfortable around him.

When he moved into action, he seemed to stand taller than he was; yet, he never lost his sense of balance and proportion.

Further, John Rendleman also fits Walton's words about the mood that surrounds such a man: "The melancholy and pleasant humor were in him so tempered that each gave advantage to the other, and made his company one of the delights of mankind."

John Rendleman was a man who drank deep of joy and felt the cruel wounds of sorrow. Yet he always bore pain bravely and spread his happiness to the full extent of his expansive spirit.

When the challenge demanded, he could fight. If the struggle involved the benefit of the institution which had been given into his care, nothing less than his full heart went into the battle.

Even at such moments, he was a happy companion; he fought with the same force of spirit with which he rewarded and forgave.

Of all his virtues, the one that received the most comment was his loyalty. He inspired loyalty because he was quick to give it and unwavering in his commitment to it.

He knew well that loyalty and trust were reciprocal in nature. Perhaps, other than the love he bore his family and friends, there was no quality he tried harder to inspire. Once he said in a commencement address:

"Values and loyalties may not always operate mutually in easy balance, especially in the open, competitive world with which we are blessed. Indeed, situations will arise when loyalties will come into conflict, one against the other."

The conflict of genuine loyalties leads to deep spiritual anguish. The final choice always leaves us somewhat lessened.

"The human spirit is of sufficient magnitude and strength as to hold within it a plurality of values and loyalties. Our maturity will determine how we will live with our disappointment when a situation demands that we choose one over the other."

"It is that maturity that will finally tell us how we have to choose. The usual course in such situations, I have found, is to trust that only those who are fully grown up in mind and spirit can face."

"The harder choice is most likely to be the right one. If the values are important and the loyalties are rooted, the easy way out is almost surely the one that will be the hardest to live with later on."

"At bottom, a happy life is founded on an honest, self-respect. If we can honor ourselves, we can be loyal to the best that our life represents."

"Even when we fail, this interior honesty can assert itself. The just man, we are told, falls seven times seven each day. But his inner sense of honor and his loyalty to himself help him to walk upright again."

In everything he did, he made his life and work vocation of the trust vested in him by so many. He was slow to anger, quick to forgive.

His honesty tempered the dimensions of his dreams. He would not accept being a child to bad times; he would father better ones.

His heart was essentially happy to be daunted by passing events.

Thus, as Walton continues in describing Dr. Donne, we can also say of John Rendleman: "His fancy was infinitely high, equalled only by his great wit; both being made useful by his commanding judgment."

For the random laughter that such achievements in so brief a career.

John Rendleman knew that he was pursuing demanding goals. He employed his wits in every way he could imagine: for calm persuasion, for spirited debate, for the random laughter that makes life worth living.

Most dramatically, of course, we can see this institution as a monument to the dynamics of his good judgment. But the eye can look far abroad to witness the effects of his sympathetic shrewdness.

Surely, we have cause enough to succumb to our grief as we consider that his life was cut short so soon. His presence will continue to hover over our lives, even as Walt Whitman was to live in his hymn to Lincoln, another son of Illinois whose work was cut short.

From "When Lilacs Last in the Dooryard Bloom'd" we hear:

"Do a moment I linger, for the lustrous star has detained me. The star, my departing comrade, holds and detains me."

John Rendleman would consider his memory ill-served if we were to languish in sadness for long.

Another aspect of the character of Dr. Donne was so dramatically alive in John Rendleman that it might characterize the definitive feelings for all that he meant to each of us here today. Walton recalls:

"His aspect was cheerful, and such as gave a silent testimony of a clear, knowing soul, and of a conscience at peace with itself."

Thus, John Rendleman's desire at this moment would have us smile with good cheer at the gifts he tried to give, at the hopes he worked so hard to bring to fruition.

We offer our sympathy to his wife, Lenora; to his children, Charles Mathew, Jean Farrin, John S. II, Mary Elizabeth and David Scott; to his father, Ford Rendleman; to all of his family and friends whose recollections of his life are overwhelmed by their sense of loss.

John Rendleman would have us raise our hearts to a higher devotion. If to believe against belief is the curse of our time, we can best honor his memory by our hope against hope.

Let us conclude with gratitude for the plentiful wisdom, kindness and devotion he gave to all of us over the years of his stewardship. His faith never dimmed; his hopes drove towards realization. As he enjoined us in his address to the convocation opening the celebration of our tenth anniversary here at SIUE:

"We cannot let ourselves wither... Out of the creative tension of continuing debate, I think we will discover that the needs of community service and academic excellence can be harmonized."

"If we can preserve openness of mind and flexibility of spirit, we can fulfill our best hopes."

All around us we see the legacy of his dedication. Going forward in the tradition he instilled is the best way we can accept this inheritance and bring his dreams to fruition."

A letter received by John Rendleman in the hospital Feb. 27 was written by one of the most illustrious men ever to be associated with this institution, R. Buckminster Fuller.

It sums up beautifully what we are all feeling at this moment:

"John, in your 48 years you have fought an incredible number of battles and have fought almost all of them successfully—always committed to reality and the realistic advancements, in a major way, of opportunities for humans to consolidate their learning, gains as harvested over the millions of years of their presence on our little planet Earth."

"You have been incredibly effective in your commitment to education."

"You have dared to stay in the center of the battling for funds, in the center of the battling for higher standards."

"You have dared to stay where the socio-economic-political forces clashed in the most powerful ways, where ruthless selfishness is pitted against idealism, often unrealistic idealism."

"All the way through you have been very true to your own humanism. You are a real man. You are a great man. You are indeed a beautiful father, a wonderful husband."

NFO lifts cattle withholding

At meetings across the nation Thursday night the National Farm Organization announced vacation for delivery of finished cattle has been lifted. The markets and prices of cattle delivered on grade and yield have regained some of the losses farmers have been suffering, according to Erwin Wein, Madison County NFO officer.

NFO will watch actions of markets and treatment members receive on delivery of their cattle to packers on contracts that have been negotiated and updated during the vacation period, Wein said.

The withholding action can be reinstated at any time signs of another price break of members' cattle occurs. Any farmer having finished cattle to deliver are urged to contact an NFO meat bargaining member or call the NFO collection point at St. Jacob at 644-3591, he said.

Cattle prices are moving up and NFO believes orderly marketing is the key to keep the prices moving with cost of production plus a fair profit to keep farmers in business, and consumers and packers supplied with a quality product as their goal, Wein added.

"This, we believe, is the American way and all concerned are urged to study and give their support to the Family Farm Act now pending before Congress so that corporations who have been using large farming and feeding operations as tax shelters and through this tax loophole are taking over family farms and getting a stranglehold on consumer food supplies can be halted," Wein noted.

"The NFO believes continuing of such practices could result in the same ripoff of price increases and shortages that doubled the price of gasoline, heating gas and oil. Any farmer wanting more information on NFO cattle marketing plans are invited to attend the regular meeting Tuesday, March 16, at 8 p.m. in the community building at Hamel," Wein said.

Document expenses

Requirements for substantiating claims on income tax returns vary, but taxpayers should keep accurate records of all financial transactions to be able to substantiate them.

The Illinois State Bar Association says.

In all instances, proper substantiation is advisable; in some instances, it is required. For example, estimated amounts are not deductible for away-from-home travel expenses, entertainment costs or business gifts.

These deductions must be backed up with specific proof, such as the actual amount of the expenditure, the time and place of travel or entertainment, the date and description of business gifts, the business purpose of the expense, and the business relationship to the taxpayer of each person entertained or receiving a gift.

Failure to support one of these elements with proof may result in the complete deduction being disallowed.

Substantiation is not required, however, for the amount of travel expenses incurred per diem allowance or reimbursement not exceeding $20 per day and transportation expenses for employees receiving a fixed mileage allowance not to be accounted for on a tax return if the employee is required to account to the employer for the expenses.

To comply with the adequate records requirement for expenditure substantiation, a taxpayer should maintain an account book, diary, statement of expenses or similar record, supported by expenditures with documentary evidence.

Most wage earners and individual taxpayers are considered to be "cash basis" taxpayers by the Internal Revenue Service, while some persons who are self-employed or operators of businesses are termed "accrual basis" taxpayers.

The State Bar Association says the difference can be important, particularly in determining when to report certain types of income.

A cash basis taxpayer must report interest in the year in which it is actually or "constructively" received.

A taxpayer constructively received interest if it is made unconditionally available. For example, some 12-month savings certificates provide that the holder may redeem the certificate at an earlier date than maturity with a lesser rate of interest.

A cash basis taxpayer has taxable income as of the end of the taxable year equal to the interest that would have been forthcoming if he or she had chosen to surrender the certificate at the end of the year.

Also, interest credited to a savings account is constructively received and thus, taxable, even though it is not withdrawn.

If the taxpayer is one the accrual basis, interest is reported as taxable income in the year in which it is earned; the date of actual receipt of the cash is immaterial.

Repairs half complete at Clarksville lock and dam

Repair of damaged gates on Lock and Dam No. 24 at Clarksville, Mo., is about 50 percent complete, according to the St. Louis District, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

The damage to the gates occurred during the flood of 1973 when a number of barges ran into the dam section. In order for the repairs to be accomplished, water levels had to be kept consistently within certain limits.

The $170,000 contract for the repair work is being done by a joint venture of Brunson Construction Co. and BNL Erection and Reinforcement Company of St. Louis. The contract was awarded in February this year for a 120-day time period. The repair work, which involves seven of the large gates at the dam, is expected to be completed in June of this year.

Work was initiated yesterday on the repair of one of the large miter gates at the upstream end of the locks at Winfield, Mo. The miter gate at Lock and Dam No. 25 was in need of repairs and will require that the locks be closed during daytime hours while work is proceeding for a three-day period.

In 1975, Locks and Dam No. 25 passed over 23 million tons of cargo up and down the Mississippi, including 11 million tons of grain and over five million tons of coal.

TRUCK TARPULAINS GONE

Norman Rust of Cabook, Mo., truck driver for Steelhaulers, Inc. of Kansas City, Mo., reported at 8:50 p.m. Thursday the theft from his truck of a 12-by-24-foot steel tarpaulin, a 3-by-22-foot lumber skirt tarpaulin and two chain binders. The vehicle was parked at Benton Street and Niedringhaus Avenue when the theft occurred about Feb. 26, the driver said.

It also is one of the busiest lock passages for recreation craft during the summer season. Last year 1,984 pleasure craft passed through the locks at Winfield.

Dr. Gary Clark to coordinate encephalitis warning program

Dr. Joyce Lashof, director of the Illinois Department of Public Health, announced Friday that the agency has hired Dr. Gary G. Clark, an arbovirologist, to coordinate the department's St. Louis Encephalitis Early Warning program.

"Dr. Clark is now in the process of assembling his staff," Dr. Lashof said, "and anticipates that, within 60 days, they will begin surveillance activities to determine how active the St. Louis Encephalitis virus is in Illinois this year."

Dr. Clark explained that he and his staff will begin surveillance in the three Southern Illinois areas where, historically, outbreaks of St. Louis Encephalitis have occurred—McDonough, Eldorado and the Madison-St. Clair Counties are.

"When the mosquitoes begin to appear in the northeastern part of the state," Dr. Clark said, "a portion of the staff will move to that area, while the others remain in Southern Illinois."

Dr. Clark received his BA degree from Southern Illinois University, Carbondale, in 1967. He was awarded his MS in 1969, and his Ph.D. in 1972, both from Colorado State University in Fort Collins, Colo.

From 1973 until 1975, Dr. Clark was responsible for managing the field program of arbovirus research studies at the University of California at Los Angeles.

In 1975, he was named assistant professor of biology at Missouri Western State College in St. Joseph, Mo.

Born March 18, 1945, in San Diego, Calif., Dr. Clark grew up in Marion, Ill. He and his wife, Carol, are the parents of two children, Matthew, 6, and Stephen, 3.

Thompson farm panel

James R. Thompson, a Republican gubernatorial candidate, has announced formation of an Agricultural Advisory Committee to assist him in formulation of practical solutions to farm problems in Illinois.

Thompson met with the committee for the first time Thursday in Springfield and indicated that agricultural policy would be a high priority in a Thompson administration.

"Illinois is the leading exporter of agricultural products because we have the best productive farmland in the nation," Thompson said.

"To maintain that status, we must consciously endeavor to develop reasonable, practical state agricultural policy dedicated to needs of farmers."

Thompson said it is his hope that with the input from the advisory committee a complete agricultural policy plan will be developed by early summer.

A former University of Illinois attorney said the committee members were selected to insure geographic balance and representation of varied farming interests. Included is LeRoy Kruse of Mascoutah.

3 hearings likely on town-county sewers

Delays encountered in completing details necessary for financing the Four-Township Sanitary Sewer program have driven the cost up to about $19.5 million, or about $7 million higher than when the state first offered this area a grant for 75 per cent of the estimated cost.

Walter "Dick" Sparks, chairman of the Madison County special sewer committee, said this morning the state Environmental Protection Agency has requested an updated breakdown of the cost estimates with the intention of raising the amount of the state grant to a figure representing 75 per cent of the estimated total.

The possibility of three primary public hearings on the plan is being considered.

The inflation in the cost has increased the 25 per cent which must be raised locally through sale of bonds from about $1.1 million when the state grant was offered to nearly $8 million now, Sparks noted.

"Every day that passes, this program grows in cost, and inflation is driving the price up about 10 to 12 per cent per year."

"This is why we are doing everything possible to expedite the program," the chairman emphasized.

The committee's main problem recently has been finding a means of financing the local share of the cost. Since interest and discounting on revenue bonds has become too high, the committee has turned most of its attention to general obligation bonds, which are to be paid back by taxing sewer users.

Attempts are being made to form a special taxing area of three who will use the sewers, in order to allow a general obligation bond to be sold at a much lower rate than the revenue bonds would.

"Since the project includes three separate sewer systems, the problem has become more complicated."

Legislation pending in the state would allow formation of one taxing district to serve the three areas—even though they do not touch. But that legislation has not yet passed.

"The local sewer committee has asked the EPA for permission to hold a hearing in each of the three areas as the first step toward setting up from one to three taxing districts.

One hearing would be for the sewer which would sweep north from Nameoki Township and turn west through Chouteau Township, ending at existing Granite City sewers in the Granite City Army Installation.

A second hearing would be on a sewer to serve State Park Place that would empty into existing Collinsville sewers.

The third hearing would be for those in the Eagle Park and Cloverleaf Addition areas. They are to be served by a sewer terminating near the Granite City Steel hot rolling mill in an existing Granite City sewer.

The hearings are one of the primary requirements before taxing areas can be established for the sewers. Sparks said he hopes to hold all three public hearings during April.

Another problem is completing an agreement with Granite City for use of existing city sewers.

The city has expressed the feeling that township sewer users should pay half the maintenance costs using the existing sewers, but the county sewer committee feels it will contribute only a small per cent of the sewage.

The city sewage treatment committee was to meet with the county's committee Thursday afternoon, but late Thursday canceled that meeting, saying not all of the city committee's members could attend.

The county committee was requested to prepare a letter detailing what it felt was a reasonable offer and submit that letter to the city.

Sparks said such a letter is being drafted today and will be sent this week to Clyde "Bus" Boyd, chairman of the city's committee.

Since the city officials were unable to attend, Thursday's county sewer committee meeting centered on discussing "problem areas" where residents have refused to sign easements for the sewers.

Decisions must be made in the next few weeks whether to push for the easements in those areas or whether to revise the plans to run the sewers in the streets rather than behind homes in some blocks.

Sparks said numerous realtors have agreed to go house to house in the problem areas and offer residents proof that the sewers would add to the values of their homes.

Under a revised timetable, the committee is planning to advertise in May for bids on construction of one or more phases of the work.

Steele cagers have three-year 46-33 overall record

Granite City High School North completed its third season of competition in Class AA basketball with a 15-12 record, giving the Steelers a three-year overall record of 46 wins against 33 losses.

Coach William Ohlendorf's Steelers in this campaign suffered two season-opening losses—48-60 to Belleville East and 75-41 to Alton—before breaking the ice with back-to-back wins, 68-64 over Springfield Griffin and 70-59 over East St. Louis Assumption.

Following a 57-53 loss to Springfield Southeast and a 76-51 victory over Triad St. Jacob Marine-Troy, North lost three straight contests—60-42 to Collinsville, 64-48 to Morton High and 70-61 to Rockford West, the latter two being at the Illinois State Classic at Normal.

Just about the time 6-11 Steeler Rick Spurluck began connecting consistently from the inside, North put together three wins, 80-66 over Mater Dei of Breese, 64-40 over O'Fallon and 69-47 in a thriller over the Edwardsville Tigers. The Tigers eventually won the 76-68 loss to Edwardsville.

Entering the tough Belleville East tournament in January, North bowed 60-55 to Cahokia and then swept to consolation games with a 69-55 win over Belleville and a 78-66 triumph over Belleville Altoft.

A post-tournament 64-48 victory over cross-town GCHS South gave the Steelers nine wins against seven losses, but three straight losses followed—63-47 to Madison, 66-59 to Belleville West and 48-44 to Quincy Notre Dame.

A 67-61 victory over Teutopolis put North on an even keel, and a 61-58 loss to Wood River failed to alter the team's momentum. It won three in a row—76-74 over Roxana, 77-57 over Hillsboro and 71-47 over Roxana in the first game of the Class AA tournament campaign.

High jump—Randy Belling, Steve Davis and John Sands; discus—John Valencia, Larry Opich and Greg Landry; long and triple jump—Fred Clay, David Peters, Don Cook, Robert Lutes and Ed Fuchs; discuss and shot put—Keith Atkins, Jeff Logan and Tim Brunning.

Warrior '76 baseball card will include 13 home games

GCHS South will open its 1976 baseball campaign March 22, facing a schedule which includes 13 home games and five doubleheaders.

Home contests will be played on Diamond One at Wilson Park.

Couch Conrad "Babe" Champion again heads the Warriors, with John Modica assisting.

South High's season card is:

ACME DANCE COMPANY. The group will be one of those participating in the Summer Dance Institute of 1976, co-sponsored by the Mississippi River Festival and the Washington University Performing Arts Area. Professional artists will be in residency with Washington U. and the Festival, providing students of the Institute with an opportunity to learn from and work with the dance groups. Selected master classes and lecture demonstrations will also be open to the public, as well as the performances at the River Festival site at SIUE.

New hours at library

By JEANETTE KAMPEN
Director of Adult Services
Granite City Public Library
Beginning Monday, March 22, there will be new opening hours for both the adult and children's departments at the Granite City Public Library. The adult department will open at 9 a.m., the children's department, at 10 a.m. Closing hours will remain the same.

Due to the remodeling of the library, all story hours and other programs in the children's room are canceled until further notice.

If you have a question that needs an answer, call the library. The reference department is eager to help you. The telephone number is 576-7477.

The following stories and songs are scheduled for Dial-A-Story (876-6316): March 15-17, "Old Blue, You Good Dog, You" (song); March 17-19, "Mike Pink"; March 19-22, "Charlie Brown's All Stars" by Charles M. Schulz; March 22-24, "The Miller, the Boy, and the Donkey," based on a fable by La Fontaine; March 24-26, "Froggie Went a-Courting" (song); March 26-29, "The Love of the Skunk," a legend from Bolivia.

NEW ITEMS: As in "Burr," the focus of Gore Vidal's latest historical novel, "1776," is politics, specifically the disputed Tilden-Hayes election and the scandals in government 100 years ago.

The journalist-narrator is again Charles Schuyler, the illegitimate son and portage of Aaron Burr. After 37 years in France with his widowed daughter Emma, Schuyler has returned to New York City, where he hopes to recoup the money he lost in the panic of 1873 and also to find a suitable husband for his daughter. "Time" magazine says of Vidal, "With malicious wit, irresistible gossip and sturdy research, he turns 1776 into an ornate 200th birthday card inscribed with a poison pen." Ira Levin's "The Boys from Brazil" is all about the evil machinations of a man named Mengele, who once ran Auschwitz and has conceived the idea of duplicating Adolf Hitler 94 times through the process of cloning. He hopes that at least one of the 94 boys will grow up to carry on Hitler's plan for Aryan supremacy, but his scheme is thwarted by Jakob Lieberman, who has devoted his life to tracking down unpunished Nazi war criminals. In "Wide River, Wide Land," by William Barabuy Faherty, the reader sees a half-century of early America unfold through the eyes of Hugh Roe O'Donoghue and his French-Irish wife. Among the historical characters in the book are Pierre LaCade, Chief Pontiac, George Rogers Clark, and Zebulon Pike, who are depicted as contemporary rogues reveal them.

The story begins on the day the habitants along the banks of the Mississippi first hear that the wide river will divide, not unite, the wide land. It concludes with the British flag going down for the last time in the mud of the delta and the Stars and Stripes flying over a united and free land. The author is professor of history at St. Louis University.

Mrs. Childers dies at 77

Mrs. Melinda Ella (Houston) Childers, 77, of 2801 Roosevelt Ave., Granite City, Ill., died six weeks, died at 4:10 p.m. Thursday at St. Elizabeth Hospital, where she had been a patient three days.

A native of White Oak, Ill., she resided here 40 years.

Mrs. Childers was a member of St. Joseph Catholic Church. Her husband, Fountain D. Childers, died in 1956.

Survivors include one son, Kenneth Eugene Childers of Memphis, Tenn.; a daughter, Mrs. Ethel Baldwin of Granite City; one sister, Mrs. Bessie Bolling, St. Louis; three grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held today. Details are given in the obituary column.

PHONE TAKEN

A princess telephone and jewelry valued at $75 were taken between 7:30 a.m. and 4:10 p.m. Friday from the home of Jacqueline Iahum, 2301 Independence Drive. Entry was gained through a garage door and the house was ransacked.

CB STOLEN

A citizen band radio valued at $130 was reported stolen from the auto of Frank Pulaski, 5241 Colgate Place, between 8 p.m. Thursday and 4 p.m. Friday.

Carter, Ford favored in statewide balloting

The March 16 primary election will not present voters with a "bedsheet ballot."

But it will be an unusually long ballot, due mainly to the numerous candidates for national nominating convention delegates and alternate delegates.

Republican voters here will choose from among ten candidates for four delegate positions and seven aspirants for four alternate posts.

Democrats will elect six delegates from a field of 32 and three alternate delegates from a group of ten candidates.

Many are affiliated on the ballot with nationally known candidates running for President.

Democratic delegate hopefuls designating Gov. George Wallace as their preference are Mel Jones, George Rogers, Bob Watson, Carmen Rider, George Vickery and Roy Louis Wilms.

The backers of Gov. Daniel Walker are Gary Fears, Kathy Lynn Anderson, Teresa Benze, Authur Adams, James White and Charles Powell.

Former Oklahoma Senator Fred Harris is favored by Edward Becker, James Guckes, Jan Heid and Thomas Wolf.

Former Georgia Governor Jimmy Carter is supported by Charles Weitzman, Richard Allen and Helen Hawkins.

Long delegate candidates are Steve Maragides for Minnesota Senator Walter Mondale, and Tom Chortlon for former Vice Presidential nominee Sargent Shriver of Illinois.

"Uncommitted" is the designation for 11 Democratic delegate candidates, including a slate composed of State Treasurer Alan J. Dixon, Patrick Sullivan, Robert Bergman, Charles Heister, John Ubaldi and Fannie Jones.

Also running uncommitted are Robert Mays, Michael Godt, William Dallas Jr., Julie Freedman and Margaret Blackshear.

No would-be delegates have listed Senator Henry Jackson or Congressman Morris Udall.

With three alternatives to be chosen, the shorter list includes a Wallace trio—Carol Rogers, Gerald Grider and Geraldine Popov—and also a Walker threesome—Martha Wilkins, Richard Meile and Willie Johnson.

Uncommitted are Cheryl Byers, Mary Jean Ring, John Relowski and Thomas Lakin, the latter three as a slate.

Republican voters' decisions center around the two chief contenders in their party—President Gerald Ford and former California Governor Ronald Reagan.

Opposing delegate slates are: Ford—William Stehl, Willard Barthel, Betty Seppi and Gerald Cohn; and Reagan—Erwin Weder, James Crain, Robert Glenn and Jacquelyn Smith.

Uncommitted are Paul Saugel and Rufus Burns.

For Grand Old Party adherents—Marvin Wright, Charlotte Longwich, Edward Anderson and Russell Clasen.

The three Reagan backers are Dean Wallen, Janet Wilson and Kenneth Fox.

Delegates will not be legally bound to vote for the Presidential candidate they have indicated on the March 16 ballot. They will be able to use their own judgment.

Although he is not represented in this Congressional district, U.S. Senator Adlai Stevenson of Illinois is the choice of more than 150 delegate hopefuls statewide. Gov. Daniel Walker has a like number of backers, and next numerically are Wallace, "uncommitted," Carter and Harris.

Apart from the delegate aspect, the March 16 Illinois ballot also offers two "beauty contests" in which voters will have a chance to voice Presidential preferences.

Democrats compelling are Wallace, Carter, Harris and Shriver, and Republicans are Pres. Ford, Reagan and frequent candidate Ray Dalry of the Chicago area. Mr. Ford is favored, as is Carter with Wallace also a possibility. Democrats will name 155 delegates and 72 alternates. Republicans will select 95 delegates and a like number of alternate delegates.

Dog frightens would-be thief

Cecelia Cochran, 2730 State St., reported to police at 9 p.m. Friday that she was asleep on the couch in her living room when she awoke and saw a man standing just inside the door, who said, "Give me your purse."

She then told her large retriever dog to "get the man," and the intruder ran out the front door.

Police found the knob on the front door had been twisted almost completely off.

$250 liquor, cash taken from tavern

About 30 bottles of whiskey, Scotch and vodka, valued at $250, were stolen from Bob's Tavern, 21st and Adams streets, in a burglary reported at 5:20 a.m. Friday by Bob Huggins.

The cash register also was looted of $57, the owner said. Entry was gained by breaking a window on the north side of the building.

Boating skills course starts at GCHS South

Openings still are available for area residents to enroll in a "Boating Skills and Seamanship" course being offered each Wednesday from 7 to 9 p.m. at Granite City High School South.

The 10-week course started last week, but new registrants are encouraged to join the class up to the third session, Captain Albert Krumrey of the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary, said.

Sponsored without charge by the Coast Guard Auxiliary, the instruction covers all aspects of boating, including handling of different craft, legal requirements, navigation aids, sailing, weather, locks and dams, radiotelephone, marine engines, charts and compass, sailors' language and general safety.

Persons planning to purchase a boat this summer, either power or sail, can learn the basic fundamentals to look for in various types of new and used craft, the officers said.

With more and more pleasure craft on inland waterways and lakes and keener inspection by the U.S. Coast Guard, boaters are increasingly being issued citations for violation of rules or lack of required equipment.

Capt. Krumrey explained. Purpose of the course is to introduce to all owners and operators of pleasure craft safety requirements and safe practices in the operation and navigation of their boats.

Capt. Krumrey said that in 1973, for example, there were 5,322 boating accidents involving 6,738 vessels. These accidents resulted in 1,754 fatalities, 1,590 personal injuries and $11.4 million in property damage.

The course is open to persons of all ages, including pre-teens. The only charge is $3.50 for a textbook, with only one book required per family.

Further information may be obtained from Capt. Krumrey by calling 344-0423, or 344-2167.

TELEPHONE TAKEN
A telephone valued at $100 was torn off the wall and taken along with 24 cassette tapes and case valued at $175 from the home of Paul Ray Bowler, 1619 Pontoon Road. The theft took place sometime after 2:30 p.m. on Thursday. Entry was gained by forcing a rear door and the bedroom ransacked.

Union man not endorsed by unions

To the Editor:
In the interest of good government and fair representation, let's vote for Louis Whitsell for Democratic representative of the 8th District.

Why should we vote for Sam Wolf, who was hand-picked by Nelson Hagmann without even a meeting of the Democratic precinct committeemen? The talk of Democratic unity is hogwash, only applicable when their interests are involved. Whitsell is the only labor union dues-paying candidate on the ballot, but others get the union endorsements. Why?

Let's take a hard look at the candidates' special interests and where their support comes from.

Whitsell was elected by the people to the positions he now holds, sometimes without my vote. Let's elect Whitsell to Springfield.

Few on board check up on expenses

To the Editor:
In response to the article in The Forum of March 11, I would like to comment on the question that was asked. The $2,100 in delinquent taxes that was owed was paid.

The reason that the taxes were late was that Mr. Perdue's bookkeeper was in California at the time.

Mr. Perdue paid these taxes along with the penalties the day his bookkeeper returned.

The reason that I am supporting the candidacy of Jim Perdue is that I think it's high time that the County Board gets some people with financial responsibility.

If people could only see how a lot of their money is spent, it would make them shudder.

I am only one of three board members who receives a copy of all expenses each month, other than the Finance Committee. Mr. Perdue's opponent doesn't receive one and—when a show of hands was made on who wanted one—he didn't. I don't call that being too responsible with the taxpayers' money when you don't even know how it's being spent.

This year's county budget is $17,000,000—plus.

This is just one example of the inefficiency of some County Board members. Now judge for yourselves, the voters, why I feel it's time for a change.

Harris favors giving job guarantee

To the Editor:
As supporters of Democrat Fred Harris for President, we urge all local voters to vote for Harris and those delegates committed to him on Tuesday.

As a Populist-Democrat, Fred Harris feels that the basic issue for 1976 is privilege. Too few people have all the money and power, and most people have little or none.

In answer to the present policies of our government which favor the super-rich and the giant corporations, Harris is saying unequivocally that we must:

1. Break up monopolistic industries.

2. Enact a sharply-graduated personal income tax with equal taxation of all income.

3. Guarantee a job for every American willing and able to work.

4. Provide adequate Social Security benefits for the aged.

5. Make our foreign policy open, principled and democratic—a people's foreign policy, in place of one that caters to the multinational companies.

6. Use our energy resources for the people and not for profit.

7. Severely restrict the misuses of our land and the development of unsafe nuclear power.

8. Provide federally-financed universal health care.

If you, too, agree with these present-day Jeffersonian principles and feel that there must be a fairer distribution of wealth, income and power among all people, then not only vote for Fred Harris and his delegates this Tuesday, but also provide ongoing support for him in the future primaries.

Whitsell called hard-working official

To the Editor:
The time is here again and the letters are starting to flow to The Forum.

We find the same old factions coming out against Lou Whitsell, such as Ray Guadette, Mary Warren and others. "What else is new?"

If the people that criticize would do just a little research on the problems the sewer committee has encountered, they might want to "engage the brain before putting mouth into gear."

If they would just take a little of their time to attend a township meeting, they would find there is a far from trying to talk down the sewers. But they wouldn't know about this because they are too busy trying to find fault and not enough of the time caring.

They are so busy devouring each other in the village of Pontoon Beach that they would like to see this done in the township.

Whitsell is undoubtedly the hardest-working public official we have.

He has always run without the endorsement of the Democratic Committee, but somehow has always found favor with the Democratic people. This shows we feel that he should be and will be elected on March 16.

There's an Answer!

by Norman Vincent Peale and Ruth Stafford Peale

Q. What is the matter with us? My husband and I have tried everything we know of to be good neighbors, but we are shut out of every neighborhood activity. Most of our neighbors decline invitations to our home, and I have been inside the homes of only a few of them.

Two families come to see us only if invited. We have had them join in our cookouts, but then they leave early, to spend the rest of the evening with other neighbors.

We are never invited to impromptu get-togethers and are never asked to neighborhood picnics and parties although the folks on the block seem to be friendly when we meet. What is wrong? Please help us.

A. Obviously something is "the matter," as you put it. We find it odd that people would accept invitations to dinner and then leave early to spend the rest of the evening with others.

Perhaps you should ask yourself some questions to try to develop a few psychological insights and discover if in some way you are creating barriers between you and others. You may, for example, suffer from self-consciousness—an inability to achieve an easy naturalness that makes it difficult for you to be genuinely warm and friendly.

Search your mind for any incidents that may be at the root of your alienation from your neighbors. Have you or your husband said anything to offend anyone? Do you bicker or discuss family problems in front of others?

Do you gossip? Are you critical? Have you ever really gone out of your way to do something nice for a neighbor? If you really have no idea what the trouble is, seek guidance from someone you feel can be objective. A local pastor trained in counseling may be able to help you—if you are willing to accept what he says without taking offense. A minister, like a surgeon, sometimes causes pain in the process of curing.

Q. What do you do with a rebellious teenager who won't give a civil answer to any question, who is rude at the dinner table, brags about smoking "pot," and humiliates his father by telling him that he is a failure?

A. (Dr. Peale) You are going through what countless other parents—and young people—are enduring. The teenage years are difficult for everyone.

Patience and love are the main elements required to face up to teenage traumas. Some youngsters need counseling by experts—and sometimes the entire family needs counseling. I have written a booklet expressing to help families through situations such as you have described and have sent it to you. It is available at no charge to others reading the column if they will write to me asking for Time In On Life—You and the Generation Gap, at Box 550, Pawling, N. Y. 12564.

Q. My wife has an obsession about my mother. They live many miles apart, but my wife keeps remembering and harping on a few sharp remarks my mother once made. I have always decided to get out of this needlessly unpleasant situation and go home to Mother. Can you blame me?

A. Certainly we blame you: Are you a child or a man? Only a child would run home to Mama.

You married a wife. She wants a man for a husband. Perhaps the reason for her remarks about your mother is that she thinks you are still tied to Mama's apron strings.

Show both of them in a quiet but firm manner that no woman can dominate you. When they believe this, they will both think you are wonderful. And the next thing you know, they'll get to liking one another, too.

Here's a tough one . . . in the history of sports, only one man has ever been named a major league baseball manager, and the head coach of a National Football League team . . . Can you guess who he was? . . . Answer is Hugo Bezdek, who managed the Pittsburgh Pirates in baseball in 1917, '18 and '19, and was head football coach of Cleveland of the National Football League in 1937 and '38.

Here's a "believe-it-or-not" from baseball . . . Strangely enough, there was once a player named John Kennedy who played third base for Washington of the American League the same years John F. Kennedy was President . . . and what makes this coincidence more amazing is that both John Kennedy the ballplayer, and John F. Kennedy the President were each born on the same day—May 29!

Did you know that one of the most fantastic rounds of golf ever played was by an obscure golfer, Dr. Joseph Boydeton of Bakersfield, Calif., who in 1963 scored the amazing total of these holes-in-one during one 9-hole round . . . That seems hard to believe, but it's true.
